UNITED STATES POSTAL HISTORY

THE "K.H." POSTAL HISTORY COLLECTION

This collection is devoted primarily to historic letters of the early days of our country. It covers the pre-Revolutionary Days up to the time of the Civil War.

There are many folded letters in the early period, original envelopes, numerous Patriotic Covers and a collection of Valentine envelopes.

In many instances the contents of the letters are of more importance than their philatelic significance, though important philatelic pieces are present.

The entire collection presents a broad picture of American life from its inception through the time of the Great Conflict which led to final unity among the states. Interesting side lines are present including a section dealing with the gold rush to California. The Civil War is represented by letters from participants, civilian and military, from both sides. An entire volume of the collection is devoted to the slavery question, one of the causes of the war.

It is postal history in its truest sense . . . the lives of everyday people in the course of the development of our nation as seen through their own eyes.

CIVIL WAR PERIOD

- 103 THE SLAVERY QUESTION, Collection of 35 covers and letters, all related to slavery. Earliest is a 1784 court order relating to a dispute over ownership of a slave, with affidavits; a 1799 Coroner's Court finding that a pregnant slave and her unborn child were killed by maltreatment; an 1816 request for a court order to sell a slave in jail on completion of her sentence. Several bills of sale for slaves, court orders for sale of slaves belonging to an Estate; a series of 14 letters, 1848-1857 to a slave dealer, many referring to hard times and dull market for slaves. Of special interest is a letter from a clergyman accused of cohabitation with slave women, which he vehemently denies; another letter tells of group of slaves turning on their owners and killing them. This letter is from a freed slave who fears for her life. There is a note granting freedom to a slave; a letter from freed slaves who have a hard time making a living; a wartime C.S.A. slave letter (scarce) and finally an 1863 letter from Union soldier who writes that if the war ends in freedom for all slaves it will have been worth all the loss and suffering. This is just a general idea of the content of the collection. Covers are in mixed condition, few rather worn but most are in fine, average condition considering age and circumstances under which written. This is a very powerful collection of major importance in its field. It is contained in a large binder, each letter & cover in its own acetate protection sheet and with contents transcribed in typewritten notes. Many items might well have been offered individually but in our considered opinion, it is best offered intact because of the great difficulty in assembling anything of similar nature. It is of inestimable value historically and philatelically and is an opportunity which cannot be duplicated. E.XIV

Of almost equal interest is a description of the medical corps in taking care of the wounded and transporting them to hospitals. The letter, on six neatly written pages, resembles a diary of events, day by day. It describes a meeting with Gen. McClellan; a visit, probably under Flag of Truce, of C.S.A. Officers. - 701 Siberia, 1916-20 Prisoner-of-War Cards, Covers & Collateral. 59 pieces, a correspondence between a Hungarian soldier in P.O.W. Camps in Siberia and his father in New York. Most are special P.O.W. cards and printed forms. All with censor marks of the various prisons and camps. 15 cards from Hungary through the International Red Cross. Covers to the U.S. allowed to come in post-free as P.O.W. cards. Most are to and from the big military prison at Khabarovsk, a few to Omsk, Krasnoyarsk & Irkutsk. Collateral comprises photo-documents and passports issued at end of war by Russian, Japanese & Chinese Governments and all are in two languages, including a passport from China in English and Chinese. While a few items may be worn or with defects, the great majority are in Very Fine condition. This is a most unusual lot. There is considerable duplication of the basic cards, but a nice variety of postal and censor markings. An opportunity to build this into a collection of exhibition stature to say nothing of its postal history value of World War I Siberian posts. We believe our estimate to be very conservative..... E.X
