Dr. Peter M. Burrows
Oct. 5, 1938 - Feb. 21, 2002

DR. PETER M. BURROWS, the Philatelist, was born in early April 1972, according to Dr. John Warren, a former graduate student and Professor at North Carolina State University, currently at EPA, and an Officer in the Philatelic Society. "Peter stopped by my office at North Carolina State University and suggested going for coffee. As we sat contemplating the steaming brews, he looked at me and said, 'Here's some stamps I'm sending to my father', and pushed a pile of recent United States stamps over to me. They were current issues commemorating the Outer Banks of North Carolina, Yellowstone National Park, Family Planning and the like. 'You're a philatelist,' he continued, 'how would you find out what came out in past years?'. Although I specialized in India, I knew enough about US philately to assist him in this task.

After coffee he went back to his office. I went to the library and sought out the key reference to U.S. stamps, i.e. Scott's Specialized Catalogue of United States Stamps. I dropped the volume off in his office around 4 pm and continued with my business. I was home around midnight when the telephone rang. I heard a familiar voice, 'I've been in this office reading Scott's since you dropped it off this afternoon and missed dinner! Were you aware the first US issue was 1 July 1847, with a 5 cent brown stamp with a portrait of Franklin, the first Postmaster, and a 10 cent black stamp with a portrait of Washington, the first president? The 5c stamp was to pay for a 1/2 ounce letter going under 300 miles, and the 10c stamp was for a 1/2 ounce letter going more than 300 miles..."

Dr. Burrows found philately an excellent way to increase his knowledge of American history. He admired Andrew Jackson as a person, a General, and a Populist President; even though he did not understand Jackson's policy regarding native Americans. Dr. Burrows' pursuit of perfection led him to seek quality in his collection, and influenced his choice not to exhibit until, 'he had it right.' Consequently, the only time he submitted an exhibit was at CHARPEX '75 where he received a Gold.

The following biographical summary will help you know Dr. Peter M. Burrows beyond the beautiful "Collection of United States Andrew Jackson Issues" he acquired over 30 years. Dr. Burrows was born in Nottingham, England. His formal education included: a B.Sc. in mathematics from University of Manchester in 1960, an Associateship from the Institute of Statisticians, London, in 1962 and a Ph.D. in Genetics and Statistics from North Carolina State University in 1971.

Dr. Burrows was a statistician with J. & J. Colman Ltd. in Norwich, England; a Research Officer in the Biometrics Unit of the Agricultural Research Council of Rhodesia and Nyasaland; a Senior Research Officer with the Biometrics Team in the Agricultural Research Council of Central Africa, Salisbury, Rhodesia and was Acting Senior Biometrician for three months in 1966. Prior to leaving Africa and in preparation for graduate study, Dr. Burrows read all of the scientific journals from the early 1900's through the mid-1960's in the Agricultural Research Council's library, and his photographic memory enabled him to reference many of those research studies as a student, researcher, and professor.

In the fall of 1966, Dr. Burrows entered North Carolina State University for graduate study in Genetics and Statistics.

After completing doctoral studies in 1971, he returned to Africa as a Genetics Consultant with the Rhodesia Forestry Commission, Salisbury, Rhodesia for three months.

From July 1971 to June 1975 Dr. Burrows was a member of the faculty of North Carolina State University. In September 1975, he began his career in research and teaching at Clemson University, Clemson, South Carolina, as an Associate Professor of Experimental Statistics and was promoted to full Professor in July 1978. Professor Burrows retired from Clemson University in 2000 and the Board of Trustees conferred upon him the official title of Professor Emeritus of Experimental Statistics.

His honors and awards included: Fellow of the Royal Statistical Society, 1961 (England); Research Triangle Foundation Fellowship Award, 1969 (North Carolina); the 1988 Godley Award for Excellence in Research in the College of Agriculture, and the 1992 Clemson University Alumni Award for Outstanding Achievement in Research.

In 1991, Dr. Burrows received a Sabbatical leave to study at the Institute of Plant Protection, ARO Volcani Centre, Bet Dagan, Israel. He returned to Israel for summer studies in 1994 in the Nematology Department, ARO Volcani Centre and Weizmann Institute of Science, Rehovot and in 1995 in the Virology and Nematology Departments, ARO Volcani Centre, and Faculty of Agriculture, Hebrew University of Jerusalem at Rehovot.

Dr. Peter M. Burrows was a Biometrician and Quantitative Geneticist whose research resulted in 61 articles published in referred journals worldwide. He made 39 presentations at regional, national, and international conferences and workshops, and by invitation had written chapters in two books. Dr. Burrows' research interests since 1991, were dominated by studies of the Bivariate Normal Distribution (BVN) and led to the book he was writing. He was a consultant to EPA, a member of the Clemson University team that worked with Monsanto to improve the production of wheat through genetic engineering, and a consultant to Johnson & Johnson on a new product for submission to FDA.

Dr. Ashby B. "Budd" Bodine, a former graduate student, presided at the "Celebration of the Life of Peter M. Burrows, Ph.D." at Clemson University, April 21, 2002. Dr. Bodine, currently the Interim Chair of the Department of Animal & Veterinary Sciences at Clemson, visited Dr. Burrows regularly during his illness. Dr. Bodine was with him on February 5, 2002, when immediately after telling his wife, "they were having a marvelous conversation," Dr. Burrows suffered a stroke.

In a message shared at the memorial service for Dr. Burrows, Dr. Les Goldsmith with McNeil Nutritionals, a Johnson & Johnson Company, described Dr. Burrows as one of the premier level of consultants in the world. "However, Peter was unique, he did not become preoccupied with the surroundings but focused on the problem. He did not massage the answer or spin the response but clearly and concisely explained how we could go about solving the problem in the best and most scientifically valid manner. Those qualities helped convince the management of Johnson & Johnson that the Food and Drug Administration would eventually approve a new revolutionary product, and in fact, Splenda was approved. But for me the joy of working with Peter went beyond his brilliance and his work ethic. He was fun to be around. I only hope that I can be so remembered and loved."

2-CENT 1863 ISSUE — TRIAL COLOR PROOFS

1005 TC 2c Red Brown, Large Die Trial Color Proof on India (73TC1). Die sunk on 50 x 60mm card, No. 1030 and imprint at bottom, fresh and bright color, wonderful impression

VERY FINE AND CHOICE. AN EXTREMELY RARE RED BROWN TRIAL COLOR LARGE DIE PROOF OF THE BLACK JACK.

Of the large die trial color proofs, no more than two examples of each color have been recorded. All known examples show the "star on cheek" die flaw. The rarity of these large die trial color proofs is further demonstrated by the fact that none was contained in either the Allen, Brazer or Rorke collection. The largest offering, from our auction of the Finkelburg collection (Sale 816), was purchased from John A. Klemann in 1936. 8,000.00

1006 TC 2c Black Jack, Trial Color Plate Proofs on India (73TC3). Sixteen singles and three pairs identified by color, incl. Light Blue, Pale Blue, Dull Rose, Dull Red, Gray Black, Green, Pale Olive Green, Olive Green, Dull Red Brown, Vermilion, Dark Orange, Scarlet, large margins, few minor imperfections as usual for this fragile paper

VERY FINE. A RARE AND VALUABLE GROUP OF 2-CENT 1863 TRIAL COLOR PLATE PROOFS ON INDIA.
